Dublin, October 9.

ON Tuesday last the 7th Instant, the Parliament having met according to the Prorogation, his Grace the Lord Lieutenant went in State to the House of Peers, and being seated on the Throne with the usual Ceremony, his Grace sent for the Commons, and made a Speech to both Houses, who unanimously resolved upon humble and dutiful Addresses to his Majesty, which were this Day presented to his Grace.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

FROM the Experience of your former Behaviour, I make no Doubt, but you are met together with Hearts full of Duty, Affection and Loyalty to His Majesty, and zealously disposed to do what is necessary for the Safety, Honour and Happiness of this his Kingdom, which is all I have to recommend to you.

Since therefore, the Service of the King, and the Good of the Country, are the Ends we all aim at, I hope we shall agree in the Means of attaining them, and pursue them with that Temper and Wisdom, which Considerations of such Importance require.

The Improvement of the Linnen and Hempen Manufactures, will be always uppermost in the Thoughts of those who wish well to this Kingdom; and I can therefore never omit any Opportunity of recommending them to your particular Care and Attention.

Great Room still remains for enlarging these beneficial Branches of Trade; and the extending and spreading them over those Provinces where they have not yet prevailed, will be of the highest Advantage to your selves, and tend to remove all Occasions of Jealousy and Complaint with regard to the Woollen Manufacture.

These are Matters of the greatest Consequence to the Welfare of this Kingdom, and nothing will be a more acceptable Proof of the Wisdom and Prudence of your Deliberations, than the preparing such Laws as may increase your own Trade, and at the same Time prevent all illegal Incroachments upon that of Great Britain.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons,

I have ordered the proper Officers to lay before you the several Accounts and Estimates, which, I have reason to think, will meet with your Approbation, and am persuaded, you will most chearfully and effectually raise the necessary Supplies to support his Majesty's Government with Honour, and provide for the National Debt.

If a Stop were put to that most pernicious Practice of the clandestine Running of Goods, I make no Doubt, but that the Publick Revenues would fully answer the Expence of the present Establishment.

Let it therefore be your Care to frame such Heads of a Bill, as may guard and secure the just Payment of the Duties you shall think proper to grant; and you may be assured they will be always applied to the Purposes for which they were intended.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

I have taken all Occasions to represent to his Majesty the Circumstances of this Kingdom, and your Zeal for his Service; and his great Goodness in laying hold of every Opportunity to promote your Prosperity, leaves no Room to doubt the good Effects of such Representations.

You cannot but be sensible of the singular Happiness we enjoy, that whilst the greatest Part of Europe is oppressed with the Calamities of War, his Majesty's Royal Care and Counsels have hitherto preserved to his Subjects all the Benefits of Peace and Tranquillity. I am persuaded that this will not fail to excite in you the most grateful Acknowledgements of the Blessings of Peace, and at the same Time the utmost Readiness to take that Part upon all Occasions, which the Honour of his Majesty, and the Interest of this Country shall require.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal in Parliament assembled.

May it please your Majesty,

WE your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Lords Spiritual and Temporal in Parliament assembled, being truly sensible of the Happiness we enjoy under your Majesty's mild and auspicious Reign, beg Leave to assure your Majesty, that we shall on all Occasions, shew by our Actions the inviolable Loyalty and Affection we have for

for your Royal Perſon and illuſtrious Family: And that we will prepare ſuch Laws, as may beſt promote your Majeſty's Service and the Happineſs of this Nation, with Diſpatch, Temper and Unanimity.

Being convinced that the Linnen and Hempen Manufactures are the moſt improveable Branches of our Trade, we will do whatever lies in our Power to extend the Benefit of them throughout the whole Kingdom. And as it is our Deſire, ſo we ſhall always make it our Care, that our Trade in general may be ſo carried on, as to preſerve a perfect Harmony between us and Great Britain.

We gratefully Acknowledge your Majeſty's Goodneſs, in continuing us under the prudent Adminiſtration of his Grace the Duke of Dorſet; whoſe great Experience and Knowledge in the Affairs and Circumſtances of this Kingdom, we are ſenſible have been ſucceſsfully employed for your Majeſty's Honour and the Publick Welfare.

We are perſuaded it has been owing to your Majeſty's vigilance and wiſe Counſels, that we ſtill enjoy the Bleſſings of Peace, while moſt of the Neighbouring Nations are involved in the Calamities of War.

May your Majeſty's Endeavours for the general Tranquillity always have the deſired Succeſs. But permit us to aſſure your Majeſty, that in all Events, we ſhall chearfully take that Part, which ſhall be for your Majeſty's Honour and the Intereſt of this Kingdom.

En. Sterne, Cler' Parliament'.

The Lord Lieutenant's Anſwer.

I will forthwith tranſmit this dutiful and affectionate Addreſs, in order to be laid before his Majeſty.

To the King's moſt Excellent Majeſty,

The humble Addreſs of the Knights, Citizens and Burgeſſes in Parliament aſſembled.

Moſt Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Commons of Ireland in Parliament aſſembled, beg Leave to take this Opportunity of aſſuring your Majeſty of our conſtant Duty, Loyalty and Affection, and of our determin'd Zeal for your Majeſty's ſacred Perſon and Government.

We beg Leave to aſſure your Majeſty, that all our Conſultations ſhall be carried on with Unanimity and Temper, as the moſt convincing Proof that we think your Majeſty's Service, and the Good of our Country, to be inſeparable.

As we are fully perſuaded that the Flaxen and Hempen Manufactures are the greateſt and moſt valuable Branches of our Trade, ſo we ſhall (under your Majeſty's moſt Royal Protection) apply our utmoſt Induſtry and Care to their Improvement, and endeavour to extend them in ſuch a Manner as may remove all Occaſion of Jealouſy with Regard to the Woollen Manufactures of this Kingdom.

We aſſure your Majeſty, we think our Safety and Preſervation depend on the firm Eſtabliſhment of the Crown in your Majeſty and your Royal Houſe; and that we will, with the greateſt Chearfulneſs, ſupport your Majeſty's Government with Honour, and provide for the Debt of the Nation; and at the ſame time uſe our ſtrongeſt Endeavours and Application to guard and ſecure your Majeſty's Duties, and to prevent the pernicious Practice of Running of Goods.

Permit us to return your Majeſty our moſt dutiful and unfeigned Thanks for taking the Circumſtances of this Kingdom into your Royal Conſideration, and to aſſure your Majeſty, we cannot but look upon it as a particular Inſtance of your tender Concern for the Welfare of this Nation, that you have been pleaſed to continue to us a chief Governor, whom his great Wiſdom and Experience in this Government have rendered moſt deſired of your People, and whoſe Adminiſtration hath been equally diſtinguiſhed by the greateſt Zeal for your Majeſty's Honour, and the Good of your faithful Subjects.

We cannot look on your Majeſty's paternal Care of all your People, in preſerving to them the Benefits of Peace, whilſt the greateſt Part of Europe is oppreſſed with War, without expreſſing our utmoſt Gratitude to your Majeſty, nor without aſſuring your Majeſty, that we will, with the greateſt Chearfulneſs (as we have ever done) take that Part which your Honour and the Intereſt of our Country may require.

The Lord Lieutenant's Anſwer.

I Will take the firſt Opportunity to tranſmit this dutiful and loyal Addreſs, to be laid before his Majeſty.

To his Grace Lionel Duke of Dorſet, Lord Lieutenant General and General Governor of Ireland,

The humble Addreſs of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal in Parliament aſſembled.

May it pleaſe your Grace,

WE the Lords Spiritual and Temporal in Parliament aſſembled, humbly beg Leave to return your Grace our ſincereſt Thanks for your excellent Speech from the Throne, and to expreſs the great Satisfaction we have in your Grace's Return to the Government of this Kingdom.

We juſtly eſteem it a very remarkable Inſtance, among many others, of his Majeſty's Favours to us his moſt dutiful Subjects, that he has been graciouſly pleaſed to continue to us the Happineſs of your Grace's Adminiſtration; who by an exact Knowledge of the State of this Kingdom, are ſo well qualified to judge rightly of its true Intereſts, and have upon all Occaſions ſhown ſuch good Inclinations to promote them.

As the Service of his Majeſty, and the Good of our Country are the great Ends we have in View; ſo we think ourſelves highly obliged to your Grace, for declaring that they are the Ends which your Grace aims at: Nor is there any Reaſon to doubt, but that we ſhall entirely agree with your Grace in the Means of attaining them. The Improvement of the Linnen and Hempen Manufactures, and the putting an effectual Stop to that moſt pernicious Practice of clandeſtine Running of Goods, are ſo evidently the beſt Means, which in our Circumſtances, human Wiſdom can contrive, to work a happy Change in the State of this Kingdom, that we ſhould be greatly wanting to ourſelves and our Country, if we did not comply with your Grace in making them the Objects of our particular Care and Attention.

'Tis a great Satisfaction to us, that your Grace approves of our former Behaviour; and as you have taken all Occaſions to repreſent to his Majeſty the Circumſtances of this Kingdom, and our Zeal for his Service; ſo we have no Doubt, but that we ſhall every Day more and more feel the good Effects of ſuch Repreſentations.

We have a moſt grateful Senſe of the many Bleſſings we enjoy under his Majeſty's Government, particularly that invaluable one, that whilſt the greateſt Part of Europe labours under the Calamities of War, his Majeſty's Royal Care and Counſels have, by the Bleſſing of God, preſerved his Subjects in Peace and Tranquility. We humbly beg Leave to aſſure your Grace, that it ſhall be our conſtant Study to deſerve the Continuance of his Royal Favour, by a cheerful and hearty Concurrence in every thing which may be for the Service of his Majeſty, and may give the moſt convincing Proofs of the ſame Duty, Affection and Loyalty, which we have upon all Occaſions ſhown to his Majeſty and his Royal Houſe.

We ſhall take Care to proceed with the utmoſt Temper and Unanimity in all our Deliberations; and by this and every other Method in our Power, endeavour to make the Continuance of your Grace's Government as eaſy and honourable to your Grace, as we are ſure it will be happy and advantageous to this Kingdom.

En. Sterne, Cler' Parliamentor'

The Lord Lieutenant's Anſwer.

My Lords,

I Thank your Lordſhips for the obliging Manner in which you expreſs your Satisfaction in my Endeavours for the Good of this Kingdom. I ſhall not fail to continue them to the utmoſt of my Power, as the ſureſt Means to recommend my ſelf to his Majeſty's Favour, and to preſerve your Eſteem.

To his Grace Lionel Duke of Dorſet, Lord Lieutenant General and General Governor of Ireland.

The humble Addreſs of the Knights, Citizens, and Burgeſſes, in Parliament aſſembled.

May it pleaſe your Grace,

WE his Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Commons of Ireland in Parliament aſſembled, return our humble Thanks for your Grace's excellent Speech from the Throne; and beg Leave to expreſs our ſincere Joy for your Grace's ſafe Return and happy Continuance in the Government of this Kingdom.

We are perſwaded, that as the Hempen and Linnen Manufactures are our chief Support, they ought to be our peculiar Care; and have therefore Reaſon to acknowledge your Grace's Goodneſs, in recommending to us a Trade of ſo great Importance to the Welfare of this Kingdom, which can't but be attended with Improvement and Succeſs under your Grace's Influence and Protection.

We are fully ſenſible of the evil Tendency of the clandeſtine Importation of Goods, to the Diminution of his Majeſty's Revenue, and to the great Prejudice of Trade; and therefore look upon it to be incumbent on us to uſe our beſt Endeavours to ſuppreſs that pernicious Practice.

We ſhould be wanting to ourſelves, and unworthy of the Benefits we enjoy under a wiſe and gentle Adminiſtration, did we not, with the utmoſt Chearfulneſs and Unanimity, provide for the neceſſary Supplies of the Government; which, we promiſe ourſelves, will be to the Satisfaction of your Grace, and the Approbation of our Country; being well aſſured of your Grace's prudent and frugal Management, in a proper Application of the Duties to the Purpoſes for which they are intended.

As there is no Room to doubt the good Effects of your Grace's faithful Repreſentations to his Majeſty of the State and Circumſtances of this Country, we pleaſe ourſelves with the Hopes of your Grace's favourable Continuance of them, a juſt Senſe whereof, as alſo of the invaluable Bleſſing of Peace, can't fail to excite in us ſuch grateful Acknowledgements as become dutiful Subjects, who have the Proſperity of their King and Country at Heart, and will be ready upon all Occaſions to ſupport the Honour and Dignity of both with inviolable Loyalty and affectionate Zeal for his Majeſty's Perſon and Government, and the Proteſtant Succeſſion.

The Lord Lieutenant's Anſwer.

I Think my ſelf extremely obliged to you for this very kind Addreſs; and ſet the greater Value upon it, as I am ſenſible it proceeds from your Confidence in my Zeal for his Majeſty's Honour, and my ſincere Endeavours for the Proſperity of this Kingdom.
